

CEI Wins National Engineering Honors

CEI was selected as the one of 2010's Top 35 Best Civil Engineering Firms to Work For and received Honorable Mention for Top Best Environmental Services Firms to Work For in the nation. As New England's only firm to be honored in both categories, CEI's national ranking was awarded at a ceremony in Las Vegas last month and presented by CE News Magazine and the Environmental Business Journal for the firm's commitment to providing employees with an outstanding work environment.

CEI's selection was based on a host of competitive criteria including employee benefits, support for staff professional development and training, community service, employee retention, communication, office environment, sustainability, work/life balance, employee recognition, firm growth and of course an enjoyable work atmosphere. Additionally, CEI employees completed an extensive survey to rate the firm which was used in the selection process. Although our employees ranked the firm extremely high in many areas versus the nationwide benchmark, CEI is now using the survey results to make additional improvements to CEI's overall workplace environment.
