VTrans Gives CEI Green Light

CEI's recent expansion of work in Vermont continues with the Vermont Agency of Transportation (VTrans) giving the firm eligibility to provide a variety of engineering and environmental consulting services throughout the State. CEI was recently approved to provide services in 22 separate categories ranging from stormwater engineering to water resources, environmental remediation, transportation engineering and environmental impact statements. With CEI prequalified to provide engineering and environmental services to the MA Department of Transportation, NH Department of Transportation and Connecticut Department of Transportation, the firm is now set to provide similar services to VTrans. Additionally, CEI has DBE status with the State of Vermont. Current major transportation related projects include services relating to utility relocation, drainage engineering, soundwall design and environmental permitting. Firms interested in working with CEI on VTrans related projects may contact Matthew Lundsted, P.E., Principal Engineer at 800.725.2550 x305 or at mlundsted@ceiengineers.com.
