
CEI Recycles Electronics for Local Use

Comprehensive Environmental Inc. (CEI) routinely upgrades hardware and software to ensure technical and support staff have what they need to provide exceptional services to our valued clients and make sure we are using the latest technology and programs to help lead our industry. In doing so, we on occasion find that we have a surplus of electronics that may no longer have the technical strength to be useful to us but could easily be welcomed by a variety of non-profit and charitable organizations.

In keeping with our goal to provide our clients with state-of-the-art services while being committed to the environment and local giving, CEI recently donated over 50 electronic items for refurbishment and reconditioning to be later used by the Boys and Girls Clubs of America.

CEI's office recycling program includes paper, plastic, aluminum, batteries, electronics, ink cartridges and a number of other items that are either donated for reuse or recycled.

Over the past 25 years we are proud that CEI as a corporation and our staff individually have volunteered countless hours to public and nonprofit organization, providing our own area of expertise to projects and groups we are committed to. Whether it is extra hours to assist a municipal department or group in the form of industry education, volunteering to teach students about what we do and preserving the natural environment or the late hours many of our staff commit to volunteer boards and commissions in their own community, CEI is proud of its community efforts.
