

CEI NEWS

Community Giving

CEI Supports NEWEA

Water for People Fundraiser

On May 2, 2012, CEI attended a one-day stormwater specialty seminar in Hartford, Connecticut hosted by the New England Water Environment Association (NEWEA). Presented by the NEWEA Stormwater Committee, the event included technical sessions, exhibitor displays and a tour geared towards Low Impact Development, green infrastructure, MS4 permitting and flood management.

CEI stormwater engineers were at the CEI exhibit discussing stormwater management and compliance issues. Matthew Lundsted, P.E., CFM, and Principal Engineer at CEI was in attendance discussing ongoing CEI flood management projects and various funding programs.

As a contribution to the NEWEA fundraiser, Water for People, two photographs, taken by CEI President, Eileen Pannetier, were donated to an auction to help raise money and awareness to this worthy cause.

Water For People is a worldwide nonprofit organization dedicated to helping people obtain safe drinking water and sanitary living conditions through local sustainable programs. For more information on this organization, go directly to their website at: www.waterforpeople.org.

Additional information on CEI's stormwater services can be found at www.ceiengineers.com or contact Eileen Pannetier at 800.725.2550 epannetier@ceiengineers.com.

Pink Anemonefish, Raja Ampat, Indonesia

This is a gallery wrapped print of an original photo taken in February 1, 2011, 9 a.m. in the Raja Ampat (Four Kings) region of Indonesia. The region has the richest biodiversity of coral reefs ever recorded, and some 1,400 species of fish.