
CEI Sponsors Military Collection Drive

For three weeks in May and June, Comprehensive Environmental Inc. (CEI) staff participated in Adopt-A-Platoon's "Operation Don't Bug Me!" and "Operation Foot Care", a collections drive geared towards America's active military serving overseas. CEI worked with Adopt-A-Platoon, a volunteer based nonprofit dedicated to serving deployed U.S. service men and women.

This drive, which collected both foot and sun care items such as sunscreen, new socks, bug spray and personal care items will be sent overseas to U.S. Troops deployed in active war zones.

Over the past 28 years we are proud that CEI as a corporation and our staff individually have volunteered countless hours to public and nonprofit organization, providing our own area of expertise to projects and groups we are committed to. Whether it is extra hours to assist in educational efforts, volunteering to teach students about what we do and preserving the natural environment or the late hours many of our staff commit to volunteer boards and commissions in their own community, CEI is proud of its community efforts.
