CEI Featured at NEWWA's 2017 Annual Spring Conference and Exhibition

The New England Water Works Association (NEWWA) Annual Spring Conference and Exhibition was held on April 5-6th 2017 in Worcester, MA at the DCU Center. This is New England's largest drinking water event attracting over 3000 attendees this year. Comprehensive Environmental Inc. (CEI) once again was well represented on the exhibition floor, technical session presentations and leading the bus tour of the newly constructed Auburn Water District – West Street Water Filtration Facility.

CEI Principal Engineers, Kristen Berger, P.E., ENV SP and Michael P. Ohl, P.E., CFM moderated the 2 Tours of Auburn Water Districts' West Street Water Filtration Facility. The Auburn Water District in Auburn, MA, recently completed construction of a treatment facility to remove arsenic, iron, and manganese from the West Street Wells. The new filtration facility was successfully completed and put online in 2016 with CEI's assistance.

In addition to the tour, Mike Ohl, P.E., also presented How to Get There from Here...Rocks, Trains and Automobiles. The Town of Hatfield made a commitment to reinforce their water system with a new 16-inch diameter water transmission main connecting their primary supply with the distribution system. The 2-mile water main route included blasting through rock along the aptly named Rocks Road, directional drilling to cross Interstate 91, and pipe jacking under a railroad. This presentation discussed the challenges in design, permitting, constructing, and funding this critical infrastructure project.
