Focusing on Flood Mitigation

For years CEI has been assisting cities and towns looking to focus more on flood and drainage management in preparation for the ever-increasing larger storm events. CEI's Certified Floodplain Managers have demonstrated knowledge of the national approaches and programs of floodplain management.

As part of this program, CEI Principal Engineer and Certified Floodplain Manager, Matthew Lundsted, P.E., CFM joined other CFMs at the 2017 Rhode Island Flood Mitigation Association conference on April 6, 2017 in Smithfield, RI. Topics included designing with climate change in mind, coastal engineering design considerations, green infrastructure and flood resiliency.
