

CEI NEWS

Training – Flood Management

CEI Provides Flood and Drought Management Training

On June 6, 2012, CEI spoke at an emergency preparation training workshop in Amherst, MA. The New England Interstate Water Pollution Control Commission workshop entitled Extreme Weather Preparation, focused on natural disaster situations geared towards training and preparing wastewater treatment operators. Mr. Mouradian presented Floods and Droughts: Opposite Extremes, Devastating Effects, including information on the cost of climate change, the impacts of drought on water and wastewater operations, drought management planning, flood and drought early warning systems and risk analysis.

To download a copy of this presentation, go to our wastewater innovations page at <http://www.ceiengineers.com/innovation.php?p=108>